On the right, there are several overlapping green shapes in various shades, creating a layered effect. The text is centered in a black, sans-serif font.

Doing your job involves more than just doing your job!!

Doing your job asks us to delve that little bit deeper into how we live our lives
and develop true and right relationships
with all whom we meet.

Don't become preoccupied with your child's academic ability, but instead teach them to sit with those sitting alone. Teach them to be kind. Teach them to offer help. Teach them to be a friend to the lonely. Teach them to encourage others. Teach them to think about other people. Teach them to share. Teach them to look for the good.

This is how they will change the world.

ubuntu

addresses a central tenet of African philosophy:

The essence of what it is to be human.

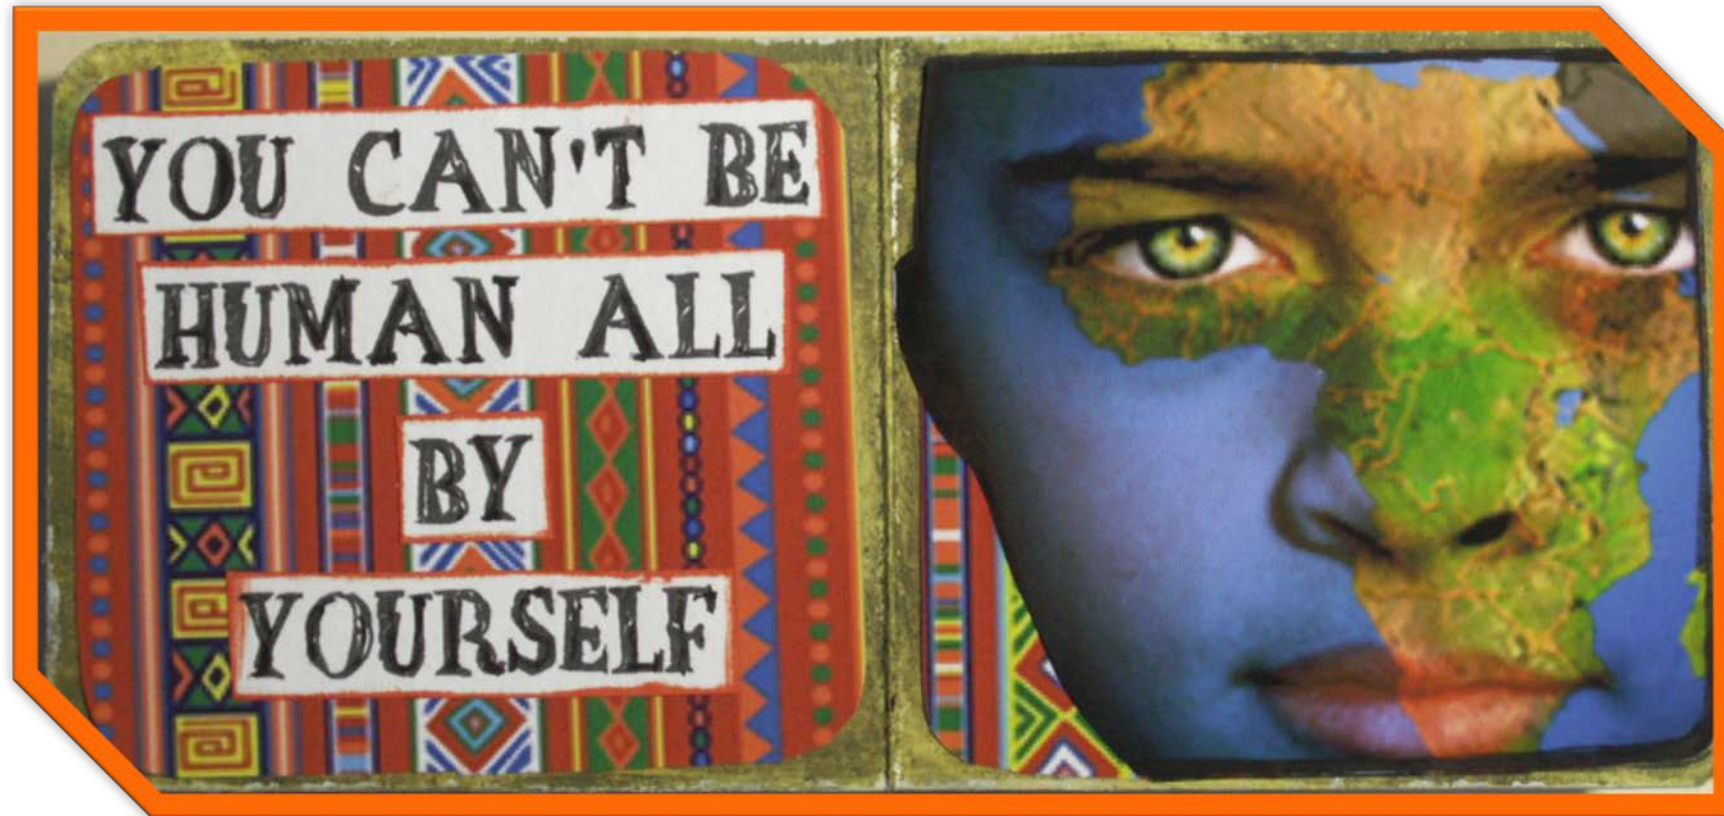

The definition of this concept has two parts. The first part is that the person is friendly, hospitable, generous, gentle, caring and compassionate. In other words, someone who will use their strengths on behalf of others - the weak and the poor and the ill - and not take advantage of anyone. This person treats others as he or she would be treated. And because of this they express the second part of the concept which concerns openness, large-heartedness. They share their worth. In doing so my humanity is recognised and becomes inextricably bound to theirs.

People with ubuntu are approachable and welcoming, their attitude is kindly and well-disposed, they are not threatened by the goodness in others because their own esteem and self-worth is generated by knowing they belong to a greater whole. No one comes into the world full formed. We would not know how to think or walk or speak or behave unless we learned it from our fellow human beings. We need other human beings in order to be human. The solitary, isolated human being is a contradiction in terms.

Never was this concept of ubuntu more obvious than during the apartheid years in South Africa. All humanity is interlinked. When the perpetrators dehumanised another by inflicting suffering and harm, they dehumanised themselves.

This is the essence of ubuntu and it is expressed so poignantly in the life and actions of Jesus Christ - the person sitting next to you. In a lifetime he made personal sacrifices that constantly reveal his compassion and concern for others. Everything he did was a demonstration of ubuntu - he was driven to help the poor, the sick and the downtrodden. And in the end it cost him His life. However, he left us a legacy of inspiration that is remarkable in its sincerity and love of humanity - MJR.

His ubuntu showed that the only way we can ever be human is together. The only way we can be free is together.

ubuntu

In certain regions of South Africa, when someone does something wrong, he is taken to the center of the village and surrounded by his tribe for two days while they speak of all the good he has done. They believe each person is good, yet sometimes we make mistakes, which is really a cry for help. They unite in this ritual to encourage the person to reconnect with his true nature. The belief is that unity and affirmation have more power to change behavior than shame and punishment. This is known as Ubuntu - humanity towards others.
