A Christian peacemaker in a world of war

Peter B. Price

978-0-232-53346-0, Paperback (216x135 mm), £12.99, 256pp

BGX: Biography: religious and spiritual.

RIGHTS: World.

- Rich mix of spiritual wisdom and incident-packed memoir from the frontline of peacemaking and reconciliation
- Author has been a key figure in reconciliation work around the world, as well as a leading bishop - for example, he was an advisor alongside Jim Wallis to Tony Blair and George W. Bush
- A timely book for our divided and conflicted world
- Cover photo from Sir Don McCullin
- Foreword by Major General Tim Cross

Drawing on the experiences and lessons of over forty years working in reconciliation, in Northern Ireland, Latin America, Africa and the Middle East, Peter B. Price explores what it means to respond to the biblical call to 'seek peace ... and pursue it' (Psalm 34:14). What is required of Christians today in the light of the increasing number of wars, insurgencies, holocausts and genocide, is a deeper understanding of what true peace making costs, and an answer to the question: 'Can Christianity continue to sanction war?'

Peter B. Price was Bishop of Bath and Wells from 2001 to 2013, and General Secretary of the USPG. His previous books include Playing the Blue Note and Undersong. He is chair of the NGO Conciliation Resources and Bishop Protector of the Anglican Pacifist Fellowship.

- Unique insight into happiness by creator of The Happiness Course
- Based on the lived experience of working with people struggling with the challenges of life
- Supported by Livability and recommended on The Happiness Course throughout the country

The creator of The Happiness Course explores what it means to be happy, why being happy is so important to us, and what it may require from us to attain happiness. Andy Parnham shows that finding happiness means searching for wholeness and fulfilment, and is a journey that may not be easy and may not be the path we expected. The book includes a section for people of faith, but has been written for everyone.

Andrew Parnham has worked as a doctor, an inner-city community worker in south London and overseas, and a life coach. Now he works with Livability, a charity that serves people with disabilities, and as an independent wellbeing advisor and coach. One of the courses he has developed, The Happiness Course, is run in schools, health centres, churches, companies and the voluntary sector throughout the UK and beyond.

Revised New Jerusalem Bible: New Testament and Psalms

"The RNJB fulfils the pressing need for a lucid translation with clear explanatory notes for use in public and private reading, for instruction and for the liturgy" - Dom Henry Wansbrough OSB

(first 3 months, £12.99 thereafter)

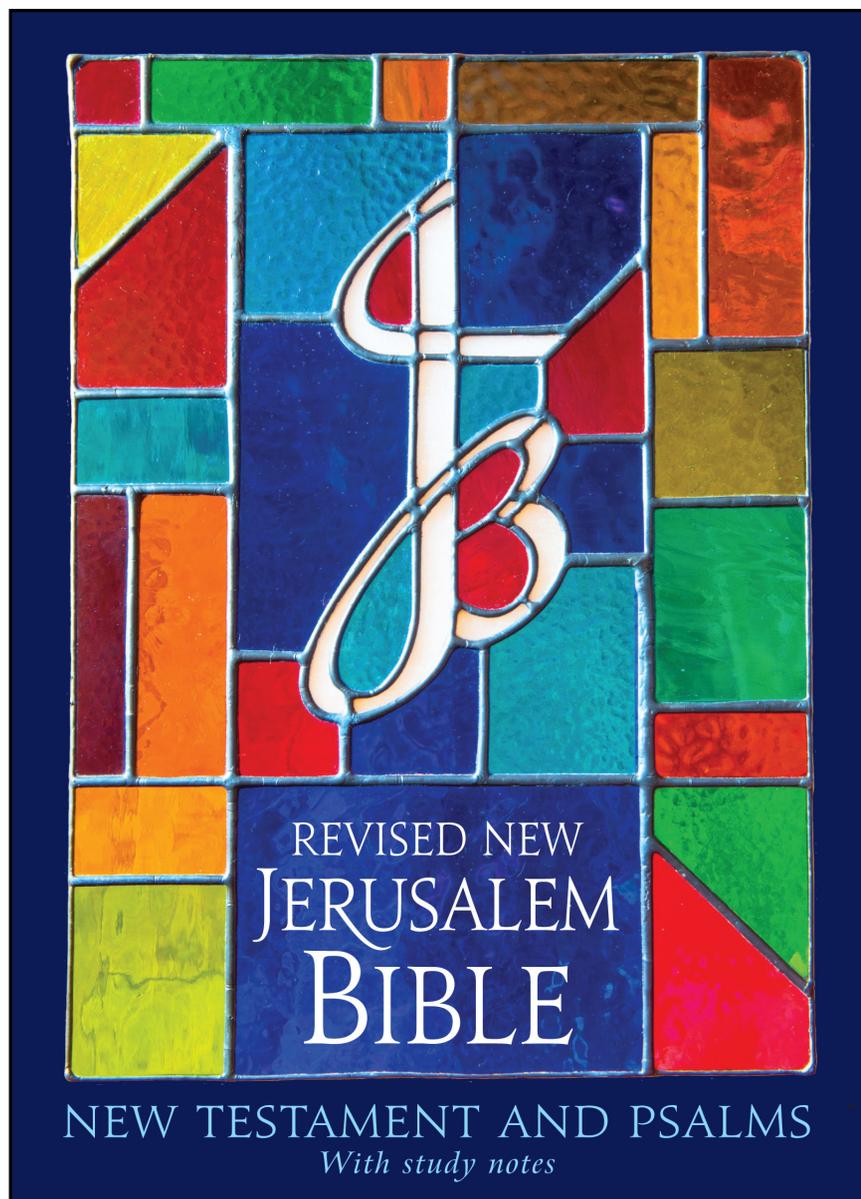

Paperback - 198 x 137 mm - 800pp

A Bible for study and proclamation.

The Revised New Jerusalem Bible presents anew the scholarship, character and clarity of the 1966 Jerusalem Bible (the first modern English version) and the 1985 New Jerusalem Bible. It is a Bible that prioritises accuracy of translation and richness of tone, written that 'the message might be fully proclaimed' (2 Ti 4:17).

This volume presents the full New Testament and the Psalms, and a comprehensive set of study notes, cross-references and book introductions. A full RNJB Study Bible will follow in the autumn of 2018.

The RNJB has been translated, and the notes and introductions written, by Dom Henry Wansbrough OSB, a monk of Ampleforth Abbey and one of the foremost biblical scholars of our day. Fr Henry was the translator and general editor of the NJB.

KEY FEATURES:

- * 'Clear read' style. The biblical scriptures were written to be proclaimed, so the RNJB uses linguistic style and speech patterns best suited for being read out loud.
- * Formal equivalence. The language, concepts and imagery of the original scriptures are presented more accurately by the RNJB than the colloquial approach of many other modern translations.
- * Gender inclusion. The message of the Bible is for all people, so care has been taken to avoid traditional male bias of the English language, while remaining faithful to the meaning of the original scriptures.
- * Revised Grail Psalter. The book of Psalms is based on the text of the 2010 translation of The Revised Grail Psalms.
- * Modern measurements. Ancient systems of measuring and timing have been replaced by modern, metric equivalents.
- * Comprehensive study notes. The notes, cross-references and book introductions of the JB and NJB are replaced in the RNJB by new materials which reflect the fruit of the most up-to-date and ecumenical scholarship.

Gal 2:11-14	However, when Cephas came to Antioch, then I did oppose him to his face, since he stood condemned. For until certain people came from James, he used to eat with gentiles; but as soon as these came, he withdrew and kept apart from them for fear of the circumcised. And the rest of the Jews joined him in this hypocrisy, so that even Barnabas was led away by their hypocrisy. But when I saw that they were not treading a straight path to the truth of the gospel, I said to Cephas in front of everyone, 'Since you, though you are a Jew, live like the gentiles and not like the Jews, how can you compel the gentiles to live like Jews?'	However, when Cephas came to Antioch, then I did oppose him to his face since he was manifestly in the wrong. Before certain people from James came, he used to eat with gentiles; but as soon as these came, he backed out and kept apart from them, out of fear of the circumcised. And the rest of the Jews put on the same act as he did, so that even Barnabas was carried away by their insincerity. When I saw, though, that their behaviour was not true to the gospel, I said to Cephas in front of all of them, 'Since you, though you are a Jew, live like the gentiles and not like the Jews, how can you compel the gentiles to live like Jews?'	When Cephas came to Antioch, however, I opposed him to his face, since he was manifestly in the wrong. His custom had been to eat with the pagans, but after certain friends of James arrived he stopped doing this and kept away from them altogether for fear of the group that insisted on circumcision. The other Jews joined him in this pretence, and even Barnabas felt himself obliged to copy their behaviour. I saw they were not respecting the true meaning of the Good News, I said to Cephas in front of everyone, 'In spite of being a Jew, you live like the pagans and not like the Jews, so you have no right to make the pagans copy Jewish ways.'

- Maggie Ross is deeply respected theologian and teacher of spirituality
- Long awaited follow up to the acclaimed Silence: A User's Guide, Volume 1 - Process (DLT: 2014)
- Addresses fundamental themes of contemplative spirituality

This book, the second of a major two-volume work, exposes the processes by which silence can transfigure our lives—what Maggie Ross calls 'the work of silence'; it describes how lives steeped in silence can transfigure other lives unawares. It shows how the work of silence was once understood to be the foundation of the teaching of Jesus, and how this teaching was once an intrinsic part of Western Christianity; it describes some of the methods by which the institution suppressed the work of silence, and why religious institutions are afraid of silence. Above all, this book shows that the work of silence gives us a way of being in the world that is more than we can ask for or imagine.

Maggie Ross is an Anglican solitary under vows to the Archbishop of Canterbury.

HRCV4: Christian aspects of sexuality, gender and relationships.

RIGHTS: World.

- The first pastoral handbook for inclusion of transgender people in churches
- Includes resources for liturgies
- Follows and complements the warmly-received This Is My Body
- Transgender issues receiving huge national focus at the moment

A resource for ministers and congregations who want to begin to understand and/or welcome transgender people into their congregations. The book has the following aims: to give the results of the first research based project into the experiences of trans Christians in the UK; to provide a theological and biblical framework in which ministers and congregations can begin to understand the insights and issues transgender people bring; to provide a series of insights that inform the pastoral care of transgender people, their families and friends; to provide resources in the form of liturgies and Bible studies that can be used by ministers and congregations exploring and/or experiencing these issues.

Chris Dowd was originally a Minister in the LGBT identified Metropolitan Community Churches for over a decade planting a queer friendly fresh expression called Journey in the West Midlands. At the same time, he served as a special category minister for the United Reformed Church as a University Chaplain at Aston University. He retrained as a minister of Word and Sacrament within the United Reformed Church and currently serves as a Chaplain at Hull University and as minister for several churches.

- Destined to become the definitive 'must-have' book on Celtic Christianity
- Marks the 25th anniversary of The Celtic Way (20,000 copies sold)
- Author widely considered one of the foremost authorities on Celtic Christianity

Marking the 25th anniversary of Ian Bradley's classic The Celtic Way – the scholarly and accessible popular introduction to Celtic Christianity – Following the Celtic Way is a completely new book that updates and replaces the original. It incorporates the wisdom garnered by Bradley over more than thirty years of research, lecturing, broadcasting and retreat-leading, and identifies the themes of the Celtic Way which are most relevant to and can be followed today by twenty-first century Christians. The core chapters are: 'Marks of the Church and the Faithful', 'Attributes of God', 'Our Appropriate Responses' and 'Ways Forward for the Church'.

Dr Ian Bradley is Principal of St Mary's College at the School of Divinity, University of St Andrews. He teaches and has published many books in the areas of contemporary British Christianity, Scottish Christianity, Celtic Christianity, worship, hymnody, religion and popular culture and broader cultural history. Previously, he has been Head of Religious Broadcasting for BBC Scotland and a political journalist for The Times.

- Exposes the practical failures of faith and faith leadership to provide relevance to younger generations
- The little-told stories of those who make the difficult decision to leave Islam
- Fiyaz Mughal and Aliyah Saleem have strong media platforms and wide-reaching networks through Faith Matters and Faith to Faithless

The first book of its kind, Leaving Faith Behind tells the true stories of women and men who were born into Muslim families and have made the difficult decision to leave Islam. Stories include the woman who has struggled to live without the hijab because of emotional abuse and threats from her family, the man who was shunned by his community after coming out as gay, the bisexual woman who ran away from home and the man who has created underground networks connecting ostracised and scared ex-Muslims.

Fiyaz Mughal is the founder and director of Faith Matters, an organisation committed to reducing extremism and developing platforms for discourse and interaction between all faiths in the UK, and TellMAMA which monitors and provides support for victims of anti-Muslim incidents. Aliyah Saleem chose to leave Islam at the age of 19 and has since founded Faith to Faithless to support ex-religious people in minorities.

- Key book in provoking renewed Anglican spirituality for modern times
- Based on Sarum Lectures 2017
- There is a growing interest in four innovators featured in the book
- Written by a leading historian and theologian

Distinguished British historian and theologian Jane Shaw introduces four innovators of Anglican spirituality from the early twentieth-century – Percy Dearmer, Evelyn Underhill, Somerset Ward and Rose Macaulay – and suggests how they might help us develop a renewed Anglican spirituality for our own 'spiritual but not religious' age.

Jane Shaw is a British historian and Anglican priest. She is currently Dean for Religious Life at Stanford University, San Francisco.

Musing with Kierkegaard on Christian Living in Fractured World

Michael Stark

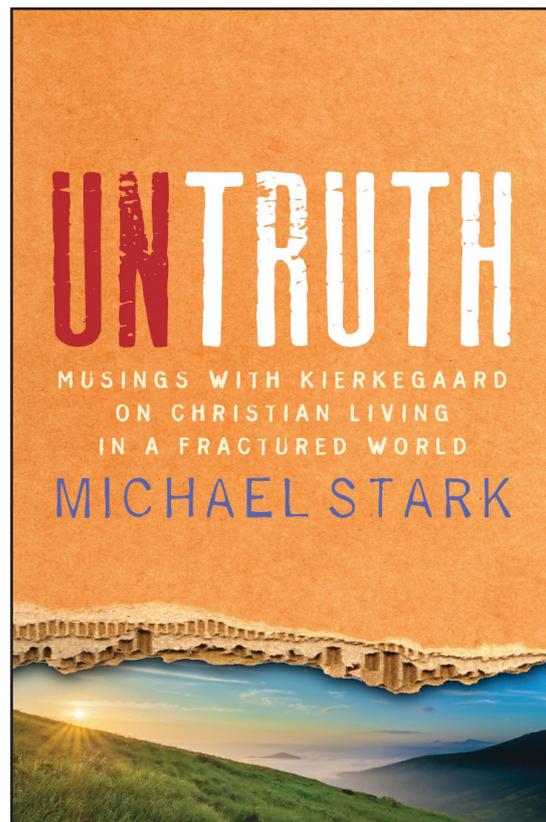

978-0-232-53313-2, Paperback (216x135 mm), £12.99, 176pp

HRCV: Christian life and practice.

RIGHTS: World.

- Intelligent philosophy and theology applied to 21st-century living
- Unique application of Kierkegaard's thinking to the Internet, media, contemporary politics and anxiety
- Kierkegaard has wide appeal as an existential philosopher, especially among Christians

Soren Kierkegaard was a leading philosopher of his day, and a prophet for us living in the 21st Century today. Based in the teaching of Kierkegaard, author Michael Stark explores what it means to life authentically and as a 'true Christian'. His chapters explore contemporary topics such as politics, the media, the Internet, relationships and anxiety. The book as a whole aims to make the philosophy of Kierkegaard accessible to a wide readership, offering substance and perspective to live well in a pluralist world.

Michael Stark is a philosopher and theologian, previously attached to Colorado Christian University and Trinity Christian College. He writes for the Huffington Post and is co-founder and editor of Inviting Liberation, and online magazine exploring progressive spirituality and community.

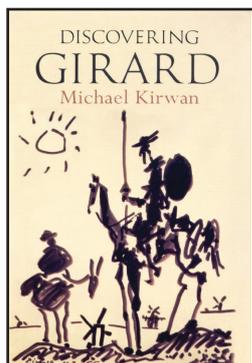

Location: Denver, Colorado.

- A lifeline for other LGBTI Christians who are struggling to reconcile their faith with their sexuality
- Jayne Ozanne is one of the most high-profile British evangelical Christians to have come out publicly
- A powerful faith memoir of overcoming inner conflict and taking a stand against one of the greatest institutional injustices of our time

Just Love is the autobiography of Jayne Ozanne, a prominent gay Anglican, who struggled for over 40 years to reconcile her faith with her sexuality before becoming one of the leading figures that is ushering in a new era of LGBTI acceptance in the Church.

Jayne's story includes: a faith journey in which she became a founding member of the Church of England's Archbishops' Council, working in charities she has set up that has taken her from the White House to the jungles of Burma; studying as a Visiting Research Fellow at Oxford University to working alongside international figures such as Tony Blair and the Vicar of Baghdad; becoming hospitalised as she attempted to find 'healing' from her sexuality, and then ostracised by many Christians after she finally decided she had no choice but to come out; becoming a high-profile campaigner for LGBTI acceptance in the Church and helping to lead the revolt in the General Synod that overturned the House of Bishops' report on same-sex marriage.

Jayne's story serves as a lifeline for LGBTI Christians struggling to reconcile their faith with their sexuality.

Jayne Ozanne is a widely-respected, leading gay evangelical who works to ensure full inclusion of all LGBTI Christians at every level of the Church.

'Robert Llewelyn was an exceptional priest, a great man of prayer who in a quiet way simply transformed the lives of countless people.' Rowan Williams.

- Rich and wise, simple yet profound, teaching on why and how to pray
- Previously unpublished writings by the much-loved priest and writer Robert Llewelyn
- There is renewed interest in Julian of Norwich - one of the inspirations for the material in Why Pray?

What is prayer, and we should we pray? In this previously unpublished collection of writings, the late Robert Llewelyn, one of the wisest spiritual teachers of our time, offers advice and insights from a lifetime of spiritual experience, including the lessons we can learn from Julian of Norwich. Fr Robert explains four different ways of praying: silent prayer, prayer as praise, praying the Rosary, and praying for ourselves and others. This book is published to mark the tenth anniversary of Fr Robert's death.

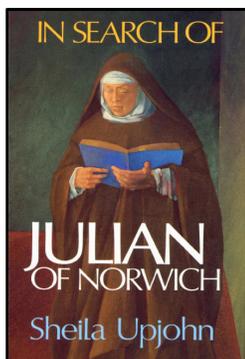

Robert Llewelyn was a priest, writer, teacher on prayer and unofficial chaplain to the shrine of Mother Julian of Norwich. Online/Social Media: juliancentre.org.

Daily Reflections for Advent

Peter B. Price

978-0-232-53350-7, Paperback (198x126 mm), £9.99, 160pp

HRCS: Christian spirituality and religious experience. RIGHTS: World.

- Soul-nourishing spirituality in the classic DLT style
- Tailored for Advent reading
- Author is one of the Church of England's most respected former bishops

Inspired by Father Alfred Delp, who wrote a meditation titled The Shaking Reality of Advent while imprisoned by the Nazis during WWII, Bishop Peter B. Price has written a series of reflections and prayers to be read on each day of Advent. Each reflection is written that we may be 'shaken and brought to a realisation of our selves', in order to gain a new understanding of God's promise of redemption and release.

Peter B. Price was Bishop of Bath and Wells from 2001 to 2013, and General Secretary of the USPG (United Society Partners in Gospel).

Location: Gillingham, Dorset.

Alfred Delp, S.J., was a German Jesuit priest and philosopher of the German Resistance. A member of the inner Kreisau Circle resistance group, he is considered a significant figure in Catholic resistance to Nazism.

"There is perhaps nothing we modern people need more than to be genuinely shaken up. Where life is firm we need to sense its firmness; and where it is unstable and uncertain and has no basis, we need to know this, too, and endure it.

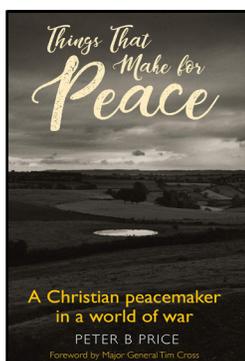

We may ask why God sends whirlwinds over the earth, why the chaos where all appears hopeless and dark, and why there seems to be no end to human suffering. Perhaps it is because we have been living on earth in an utterly false and counterfeit security. and now God strikes the earth till it resounds, now he shakes and shatters: not to pound us with fear, but to teach us one thing – the spirit's innermost longing."

(excerpt from Alfred Delp's meditation, The Shaking Reality of Advent)
